Our Story

Dear Customer:

In the next 12 months, more digital signage systems will be introduced to the consumer than in any other phase of the digital signage revolution. Many of these products will 1) come from companies you have never heard of, 2) represent breakthroughs in digital signage technology, and 3) provide more conveniences and benefits than ever dreamed possible.

The robot below is a case in point of how far digital signage technology has advanced in just a few short years. That robot, the touch screen display, and its software is an example of how our company has taken a customer's innovative ideas and turned them into something real and fully functional.

Setting the bar

DigitalSignBuilder, a 22Miles Inc brand, has the distinction of introducing more turnkey digital signage products than any other company in the United States. Our pioneering efforts and clear attention to detail have built our company during the past decade into a strong organization - always dedicated to our customers and their satisfaction.

We pride ourselves on the flexibility of our solutions and the value we provide our customers. By offering straightforward systems, we deliver you with superior products without having to nickel and dime you death with software development costs or HTML5 coding.

22Miles has over 5,000 global digital signage deployments

We work hard to make a fair profit, as would any business, but we also invest a great deal of that profit into our elaborate digital directory systems. Our proprietary Publisher Pro software gives us the unique ability to create amazing content while giving us full remote immediate access to any digital directory deployed in the field. This personal service often amazes people when we can instantly access and support any system.
